

Guadalupe Inquiry Center

Design Concept --- Physical activity as landmark for society.

The design was inspired by mining the gene of the place; adapting with what exists with what is intended to provoke. Consequently, the best solution was to create a building that represents strenght and durability. Hence, establishing a link between the two main activities, which are kayaking and biking.

Design Process

